

CLAYTON COUNTY RECOGNIZES STEM SUPERHEROES

- WHEREAS: STEM Superheroes is an organization made up of Clayton County high school students whose purpose is to educate, excite, and empower middle school students to engage in STEM activities; and
- WHEREAS: The goal of STEM Superheroes is to increase student interest and participation in STEM activities beyond elementary school and middle school and, ultimately, inspire students to pursue STEM majors and careers in the future; and
- WHEREAS: The STEM Superhero team is made up of six high school students: Sydney-Alyce Bourget, resident of Jonesboro and senior at Elite Scholars Academy; Tariq Bonner, resident of Riverdale and freshman at Elite Scholars Academy; Devin Cobbs, resident of Jonesboro and senior at Elite Scholars Academy; Daniyel Holmes, resident of Rex and senior at Elite Scholars Academy; Chiagoziem (Chichi) Obi, resident of Riverdale and senior at Riverdale High School; and Charisma Oswagu, resident of Riverdale and junior at Elite Scholars Academy; and
- WHEREAS: Each of these students has participated and excelled in various areas of STEM; and
- WHEREAS: These six students have visited middle schools throughout Clayton County and have engaged students in hands-on, interactive activities that represent each area of STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math); and
- WHEREAS: By the end of the 2013-2014 school year, the STEM Superheroes would have reached over one thousand Clayton County middle school students.
- THEREFORE: I, MICHAEL L. EDMONDSON, Commissioner, on behalf of the Clayton County Board of Commissioners, do hereby recognize and acknowledge these students as a STEM SUPERHEROE. I urge all citizens to join me in honoring her commitment and dedication to excellence in science.

In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of Clayton County, Georgia to be affixed this 4th day of March in the year two thousand fourteen.

Michael L. Edmondson, Commissioner
